For the Love of God: John's Letters

We had a wealth of knowledge to share with our sisters in Christ. Tell the story whenever you have an opportunity. Tell how Jesus showed his hospitality.

A special thanks to the Greenville District team for the refreshments at the School of Mission gathering.

All presidents should send your report to me by August 31st.

Mission Coordinators: Mission Today, Charter for Racial Justice, Unit of the Year, and the Reading program are also due by August 31st. On September 18th, Greenville District's 38th Annual Meeting will be held at Berea Friendship UMW, 8001 White Horse Road, Greenville, SC Get your reservations in for the SCCUMW Annual Meeting at Belin UMC, Murrells Inlet, SC.

Thanks to all the units for your hard work.

Faith, Hope, Love in Action,
Juanita Brown Bowens

Items for Annual Conference

The United Methodist Women Annual Conference is asking that we bring Gift Cards with a sticker with the amount on it, and New Postage packet and used postage stamps to the District Annual Meeting in September. Everything will be divided among the Missions. We will take the items to the Conference in October. Please send me your Mission Action today forms by Aug. 1st.

Thanks, Sylvia Marie Clinkscales

Secretary of Program Resources

Hi Ladies,

I was glad to see so many of you at our SCC School of Christian Mission, July 22-23, 2010. We had a very great time, at least I did. It was a little hot, but we made it.

August 31st is your deadline to get me your reading program for 2010. Please print or type your participating member's names so I won't make a mistake in the spelling of your name, I would like for your certificates of recognition to be correct. Remit your information to Elinda Downs, PSR, 14 Floral Wood Way, Pelzer, SC 29669-8932.

See you all on September 18th at the Greenville district Annual Meeting at Berea Friendship UMC.

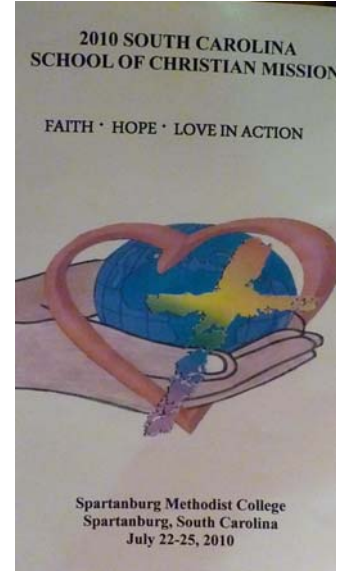

Be Blessed, Elinda

SUDANESE UPDATE

Dear Sudanese Friends and Friends of the People of Sudan,
Many of you are prayer warriors. Sudan needs your prayers now.

The genocide in far-Western Darfur continues though unreported because of the Government's success in suppressing information flow. The scale is smaller because the government has accomplished its genocidal goals in most of Darfur. Now those in control are disrupting IDP camps and trying to force refugees to return to their homes. Of course the homes and means of survival have been destroyed and much of their land occupied by Arabic people from other lands. Clearly it is an unsafe thing to consider. UNAMID seems to be of marginal value in this.

Violence continues in Southern Sudan. Some think that it is inspired by the National Congress Party; others believe the violence reflects the failure of the Government of Southern Sudan to establish local peace and provide "peace dividends." Regardless, as always the victims are innocent men, women and children. Within this framework, the Government of Southern Sudan is diligently and energetically working both to achieve peace internally through major changes in the culture of the SPLA and to assure that the referenda and consultations involving Southern Sudan, Abyei, Nuba Mountains, and Blue Nile are held on time, with integrity and transparency, and that the results are respected.

These next 6-12 months bear the potential for great improvement or national implosion. Please stay informed, continue your advocacy and join us in a season of focused prayer for the people of Sudan.

In His Service,

Bill Andres

Spotlight on Units : Faith UMC

I want to start this article by thanking my local unit (Faith UMC) of United Methodist Women for the scholarship that covered most of the cost of attending the 2010 SC School of Christian Mission. That made it possible for me to go. This was my first time attending and when Caron Cooper said she was looking for articles and news from individual units I told her I'd write about attending as a first-timer. This year's theme was "Faith* Hope* Love in Action". The class I attended was "Joy to the World: Mission and in the Age of Global Christianity". We studied how the view of Missions has changed over the centuries and how it has changed very little. We learned how many of the same challenges that First Century "mission workers" faced are similar to the ones in the 21st Century face. The instructor was Jo Sheetze. She kept us going by having us do skits, make posters, give reports and discuss what we were learning. There was never a dull moment. The two other studies offered were on John's letters and on the Sudan. There were opportunities to attend an one-hour short course on all three so we could get a brief class on the others. I choose to go to the one on Sudan and saw that the situation in the Sudan is extremely hard, what the United Methodist Church and the United Methodist Women are doing to help and what we can do to help. Everything wasn't all class work. We had singing and worship every day. Morning Watch, Bible Study and a Plenary with singing were held. There were daily showings of DVD's on assorted topics from the history of religion to brief bios on Billy Graham and Nelson Mandela. The weather was hot, hot, hot. But we had golf carts, driven by lovely women of SC UMW who transported us to and from the dining hall, classroom buildings, auditorium, and the dorms. There was Mission Night with the five SC Missions set up to show what they were all about and representatives to tell how we can help. There was down time where you could rest, study, etc. But I wanted to make the most of the opportunity and went to as much as I could until sheer exhaustion caught up to me Saturday night. One of the great things about United Methodist Women's events is getting to meet women from other units and districts. These are women you wouldn't otherwise get to meet and get to know. The dorm where I stayed had four rooms in a suite. Two women from the Florence district were in the suite. The fourth was Susan Smith, our district treasurer and a long-time friend. Between classroom discussions and general conversation we were able to see what other units and churches were doing and exchange ideas, to form bonds and to be connected. I encourage women from our district to attend at least once. You'll be tired, but not sorry

Treasurer's Notes

A copy of the District budget is available in this issue. Please note that the budget has not increased from last year's. If you have any questions before the Annual Meeting in September when it will be voted on by your delegates, please call or e-mail me. Last year we decreased the "Pledge to Mission" from $37,000 to $30,000; and this year we have decided to keep it at the $30,000. Hopefully for 2012, we will be able to increase that so it will be $37,000 again or even more.

If you haven't sent in your unit's 2011 Pledge, please bring it to the District Annual Meeting in September or mail it to me, or e-mail at susansmith@intexa.com, or call me at H: 268-6602 or C: 864-270-0598. A word on how this works. At the Annual Meeting, we have a Pledge Service. This is worshipful time to dedicate, commit, and offer this to God's work by all of us as Greenville District UM Women. If you have already sent me the amount, your unit is still asked to participate by filling out another form and bringing it forward as part of the worship time. If you haven't sent me the pledge and have it at this time, your unit is asked to fill out the form and bring it forward at this time. If your unit hasn't set an amount, fixed or estimated, but are committed to doing so for 2011, please fill out the form with "amount to be determined".

Last month I gave a link for you to obtain on-line copies of the forms. Well, General Board of Global Ministries has redone its website and that link was not working. It is a long process to get to them, but if you want the information at any time, e-mail me and I will e-mail you the steps.

The "Unit of the Year Award" form can be found elsewhere in this issue. The deadline for this is September 1, 2010; and needs to be mailed to me, Susan Smith, 110 Shady Creek Court, Greer, SC 29650. Please note that other awards and reports go to other members of the board. BUT, if you send it to the wrong person, don't worry it will be passed on to the right person.

If you are confused about "Rainbow Woman" and have questions, please call or e-mail me. This is an opportunity for going that extra mile in giving, it is over and above your usual pledge.

Last note...the fiscal year for our District is December 1 to November 30. So, District budget year, local unit's pledge and quarterly reports for the year are reported accordingly; and the "Five Star Unit Awards" and the "South Carolina Mission Project" certificate are based on what was received from Dec. 1 to Nov. 30.

Hope to see you in September at Berea Friendship....

LETTER FROM KILLINGSWORTH

I moved to Columbia in 1988 from Greenville. Wade Hampton High School is my alma mater! 1973. I have worked as the Administrative Assistant for Killingsworth for 5 years. I worked in banking and investments when I lived in Greenville. I switched to Social and Human Services when I moved to Columbia, working for DSS and DHHS for several years, then a local UMC, then Killingsworth. We have sadly few communication tools at Killingsworth. Our Executive Director has had to spend lots of time in meetings, writing proposals, appeals, requests et cetera all related to somehow getting funded to improve how we interact with our UMW community and with our local Columbia agencies - the agencies who help our residents with jobs, medical needs and counseling/mental health issues. It is tough, Caron. Here's some basic info - if you like, I can write to you later (and much shorter I promise) with resident profiles - who is doing what - and why? It's tough to be so developmentally delayed as a mission. Since Killingsworth's entire program of.. personal development is founded on relationships and how we bond with, communicate with, work with, share with, grow with and yes, differ from other women - - - to be slow in our own development hurts us. However, monies first go to the Residence of Killingsworth - keeping up daily operations (shelter, food, utilities, transportation, tools for employment) and these are well spent.

We have zero to little overhead. Killingsworth is staffed one person at a time! 24 hours/7 days. The woman in charge may have a specialized field and tasks to concentrate on while on duty, but each staff must act as "house mother, big sister, counselor, advocate, teacher, advisor, and sometimes critic or police." Talk about multi-tasking? We may not have hi-tech but we certainly diversify. The woman on duty overnight - Miss Elaine - is our Night Manager. She puts the house to bed, so to speak, secures the premises - and then - often into the wee wee hours - will sit up listening to and chatting with a resident who can't sleep or had a bad dream. Elaine's background is as a legal assistant and she also worked with victims of abuse before coming to Killingsworth 2 and half years ago.

Hermina Bellinger is the Program Director and works 2nd shift - - she is "home" when most of the residents are coming in from work, and is on duty during the supper hour. Hermina sets the admissions criteria for applicants and interviews all prospective applicants and residents individually. She sets the case program, woman by woman. Some focus on Recovery and their addiction cycle. Some focus on healing from assault and require counseling. Some suffer from depression, neuroses, and psychoses and need encouragement and medication, as well as acknowledgement that their issues are valid. Hermina has worked for Killingsworth for 14 years and has her Master's degree from the Citadel. I'm the daytime staff, usually - I interact with residents on many levels regarding their medication, budget, rent payments, and I handle the written correspondence to supporters (letters, needs lists, arranging visits to Killingsworth.) Hopefully, I'll do more with communication and information as we get up to speed. This correspondence is initiated by the other party, usually. The board of directors and the UMW usually take care of getting the word out about Killingsworth. I am so excited about meeting you, I could not stop myself from seeking out your email and keeping us connected. We hear little from the Greenville district. When we I am on duty - the residents come first. We eat, sleep and breathe about improving their lives, pushing them to their potential and repeating to them "you can, you can, you can. You Can Do This Thing we Call Life! Abundantly!" Our weekend staffers work 6, 12 or 24 hour shifts. No one works every weekend. Schedules are assigned so that each member has at least two full weekends off. These support staff women are MSW's, a retired MSW, a retired deputy, and a nursing assistant. Three work full time for the Dept of Mental Health during the week. These experiences - with law enforcement, social service, health, recovery - all work in favor of our residents. 100 per cent of the problems our residents arrive with are due to relationships. Poor choices. No skills. Using people or being used. Not understanding differences between love and sex. Daughter-mother conflicts. Sister-sister conflicts. Woman can be experts at initiating, nurturing and sealing new and healthy relationships - and also experts at demolition of the same. They end up, because of their choices and responses, in prison, rehab, the hospital or on the street. Therefore our Program is based on relationships, the very relationships residents developed with us, the staff. We love each and every woman who walks through that door, Caron, even if she chooses to walk right back out. They come back. The successful ones return to catch up and talk and share. The less successful ones call and ask "can I come back to Killingsworth?" We say "yes." And they do. Killingsworth does something unique - we say "Come on back. Try this again." We only can do it with the prayer, participation and conversation of the United Methodist Women. After all, you started it!

This is real. Come visit. Or let us come visit you. We'll bring a resident, too, to share her story.

Thanks for reading -

Becky Roberts
